How to benefit from using the Welsh language in your business?

The Welsh language is an integral part of life in most communities in North West Wales.

65% of the population of Gwynedd can speak Welsh according to the 2011 Census.

Businesses all over Wales are starting to see that using the Welsh language can add value to their products and help you create an unique brand.

As well as creating an unique brand, using even a little Welsh can improve customer services and relationships and create customer loyalty locally*.

You don't have to speak Welsh fluently or do everything bilingually all the time to benefit. Even the small things can make a huge difference.

- Displaying bilingual signs
- Bilingual advertising - media and online
- Help improve staff skills

What help is available?

hunaniaith - your local language initiative - can give advice and support in taking those little steps and help you use more of the Welsh language in different context. We can offer advice on:

- Digital resources
- Using Welsh on social media
- Translation
- Skills and confidence building training
- Self assessments
- County wide schemes to promote the Welsh language in business.
