What is a Public Space Protection Order (PSPO)?

PSPOs are one of the powers introduced by the Anti-social Behaviour, Crime and Policing Act 2014. It grants the authorities the power to impose restrictions and requirements on individuals within designated areas, to address specific nuisance(s) or problem(s) in specific areas with the aim of improving the life of visitors and residents in the area.

Why is a PSPO being considered?

In Cricieth, the decision to consider a Public Space Protection Order (PSPO) is in response to new and increasing types of anti-social behaviour within the designated area. Police data and witness accounts have highlighted the scale of the problem, and the impact this is having on residents, businesses and visitors. Before considering a PSPO, the Local Authority must be satisfied:

- that these behaviours in a public space have had, or are likely to have, a detrimental impact on the quality of life of people in the neighbourhood.
- That these activities are or are likely to be frequent and persistent in nature.
- That these activities are or are likely to be unreasonable.
- That they justify the restrictions outlined.

What are the proposed restrictions?

The restrictions under consideration have been specifically developed to deal with the types of behaviour that cause the most serious problems within this area, which therefore justifies their inclusion. We consider that the following restrictions are appropriate, namely:

1. A person shall not follow a course of conduct which causes, or which can reasonably be perceived to cause harassment, alarm, nuisance, or distress.
2. A person shall not consume alcohol, or anything which an Authorised Person reasonably believes to be alcohol or a container holding alcohol if the Authorised Person asks the person to stop drinking or to surrender the alcohol or container.
3. A person shall not loiter in a state of intoxication through consumption of alcohol or drugs. If an Authorised Person asks a person to leave the area in circumstances where the person has contravened this restriction, the person shall leave immediately.
