

Services available through the library

Every library in Gwynedd has a collection of books about caring; some of them written by carers. There is also free access to computers and the internet in libraries – there are many online forums specifically for carers that you might find useful. Wi-fi is also available in all libraries.

We do not charge fines at all for any books that are returned late.

If we receive the book back from you at any time – there will be no fine or any cost to you.

We may charge you for the cost of any books that are not returned at all

Full details of the Libraries' opening hours are available here

Home Library Service

Gwynedd Library Service offers a monthly library service to the home, if you find it difficult to visit the library for any reason or are looking after someone full-time.

You can receive a choice of books and audio books in Welsh and English and Large Print books in Welsh and English. This is a friendly monthly service and completely free.

You can apply online for the home library service from our website:-

<http://www.gwynedd.llyw.cymru/library>, or email library@gwynedd.llyw.cymru or call us 01286 679463

Home Delivery

If you don't want a regular monthly service but want to order books every now and then to read, then you can contact us to have books delivered free of charge to your home, at any time. Call your library or you can visit www.gwynedd.llyw.cymru/library to complete the online order form.

Digital Support

Please also contact us if you want to arrange a one to one Digital Support session. A Librarian can help you with digital skills or using computers or a device such as a tablet/i-pad/ or we can visit you at home if you are unable to visit the library.
